DR. MATHEW JAMES WESOLOWSKI died in Edmonton, Alberta, on March 31, at the age of 45.

Born in Poland on March 8, 1925, Dr. Wesolowski graduated in medicine from the University of Alberta in 1949 and then took postgraduate training at the General and Royal Hospitals of Edmonton for the period of two years. He was certificated as a surgeon by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.

Dr. Wesolowski devoted his spare time to raising homing pigeons.

He leaves his widow, Carmen, two daughters and two sons.

LYON HENRY APPLEBY, M.D., C.M., F.R.C.S., F.R.C.S.[C], F.I.C.S., died in Vancouver on April 10, 1970, at the age of 75.

Born in Deseronto, Ontario, in 1895, he was an undergraduate in medicine at Queen's University when he left to serve with No. 7 Canadian General Hospital in World War I. Returning to Queen's, he graduated in 1919 as Gold Medallist of his class and spent the next six years in postgraduate surgical training in Canada and Europe. He earned the F.R.C.S. (England) in 1921 and was at the time the 13th Canadian so qualified and the youngest in the British Empire. He established surgical practice in Vancouver in 1924, and until his retirement in 1968 he served continuously as a member of the medical staff of St. Paul's Hospital, latterly as Surgeon-in-Chief. A man of intense energy, Dr. Appleby was active in the organizations of the profession, a prolific writer on surgical topics, a strong supporter of the International College of Surgeons and its President 1962-1964. In addition to his busy professional life he was an owner and breeder of thoroughbred race horses and was a familiar and respected figure at the track.

A daughter and three sons survive, two of the latter being Dr. Lyon H. Jr. and Dr. Kenneth, who practise in British Columbia.
